

As a purchaser of information I do not think I should be limited in the information for which I am willing to purchase. Even though someone else could obtain the information for free, I may wish to know conditions if I plan to go to a City, whether it be traffic or weather.